

Ontario Online Learning Portal for Faculty & Instructors

Since 2010, the Ontario Online Learning Portal for Faculty & Instructors has been supporting faculty and instructors from Ontario's public colleges, universities, high schools and literacy and other training providers who teach online, or are interested in exploring the growing field of online learning.

The Portal is your single source for the latest trends, best practices, emerging technologies and training opportunities for online learning in Ontario.

The Portal offers:

- Pockets of Innovation – Examples of specific projects on college and university campuses across Ontario that represent innovation in online learning, support student success and offer opportunities for collaboration.
- Trends & Directions – Briefings and analyses to help faculty and instructors get ahead of the curve and stay informed about the latest trends in online learning and technology from Ontario and around the world.
- Training Opportunities - Information on training opportunities for faculty and instructors from Ontario's public colleges and universities, as well as training offered by Contact North | Contact Nord on its three learning technologies platforms.
- Tips & Tools – Practical “how-to” tools to support faculty and instructors who want to develop an online course or migrate their current course to a digital medium.
- Partner Corner - One-stop access to everything you need to: create a booking to deliver a course via audio, video, or web conferencing; login to your online classroom; get technical support on our technology platforms; and much more.
- Online Learning News - New insights into the world of online learning in Ontario including links to innovative projects on campuses across the province, feature stories, interviews and more. Subscribe to the Online Learning News and have it delivered to your inbox bi-weekly.
